

Tinnitus - Ringing in the ears

What can be done about ringing, buzzing or whistling in the ears? 14 years of dedicated research with the support of leading global experts has led to a decisive breakthrough. Using Softlaser Therapy, developed in Switzerland, more than 40'000 affected people have already been treated successfully. Another type of treatment is sound therapy or neurostimulation, which is used specifically in chronic tinnitus. All these treatment forms have been successfully tested in long-term studies in hospitals and medical practices and the positive effect scientifically proven through various medical studies. This is self-treatment that can be used easily and cost-effectively at home and it is completely safe and painless.

We would be happy to tell you more about these treatments. Please contact us if you would like to become our distribution partner.
